	Question: Like about course
	I love the writing skills we have been learning and the class size. It is alot more personal because of the small class size which makes learning easier.
	Laid Back, cool teacher
	It's a small class and the instructor is very nice and comprehensive.
	I like how the professor gets the whole class to participate in the lessons and conversations.
	I really liked the teacher and manner in which material was presented. It felt like my worked wasn't being compared to others but merely my own potential.
	we are learning how to write to help with our college experience.
	Question: Aspects changed
	There is nothing I would change at this time.
	Nothings too bad.
	The course is good as it is.
	At the moment I don't think the course needs a change.
	I felt like, for a class that emphasized on rhetoric, our argumentative skills weren't used for much of anything that was really interesting or pertinent to my life. I would've liked to discuss and analyze much more interesting and current topics. Also, there is an incredibly annoying kid in our class (who wears fingerless gloves) so if he could transfer schools that'd be great too.
	have better examples in the text book, and have less to dos
	Question: Help learn
HALSTROM	Mr. Halstrom answers any questions that we have and explains everything we are doing in and out of class in a thorough manor.
HALSTROM	Class discussions where everyone is sharing.
HALSTROM	Sets up a class discussion where students ask and answer questions that concern them. This is very helpful for me.
HALSTROM	He asks us questions to make sure we clearly understand the lesson. He also always lets us know, if there are any other questions we have outside of class, he always has office hours available to help us, if needed.
HALSTROM	He leaves very descriptive comments and make the course feel extremely personal. He also does a good job of making sure important details are given more emphasis than symantics.
HALSTROM	If I ask a question he tells me the answer not ask someone else first.
	Question: Improve learning opportunities
HALSTROM	Nothing at this time.
HALSTROM	Nothing!
HALSTROM	The instructor has many learning opportunities. Its up to the student if they want to take advantage of those opportunities, because some students don't take advantage of them.
HALSTROM	the learning opportunities the professor provides in class are already high, so at the moment I don't think there is anything to adjust or improve.
HALSTROM	More discussions instead of small group activities.
HALSTROM	I am a visual learner so if you could show us better examples or show us what to do. but not so much that you bore us.
